Crew Policy-Skipper duties: Skipper is responsible for your safety, to command the yacht, to get informed about the weather and make proposals to the clients regarding possible destinations for the itinerary. It is common for the skipper to propose to the clients' ports, bays and the possible sailing ways giving them the ability to choose the one that suits better to their needs. Sailing is always to weather permitting directions. Night sailing is not allowed, and the yacht should be anchored at a safe spot when there is still daylight. Mooring out of the ports at bays is possible (weather permitting). Skipper is obliged to follow the coast guards' directions regarding safety and weather. Skipper is not allowed to leave the port with a prediction for 6 or more Beaufort winds. Skipper has the last word regarding choosing a safe route or port or bay due to weather conditions. Crew policy: Charterer need to take care of the crew eating expenses outside of the yacht during the charter. This amount is not given to the crew if guests invite the crew for eating and the crew accepts this invitation. Crew gratuity is expected from the crew and should be applied only if earned (always at client's discretion). Healthy onboard: Our top priority remains welcoming in a warm, familiar and completely safe environment. Our team has been properly trained in the new health protocols, always according to their job. We have increased the cleaning and disinfection of all our spaces with emphasis on the points such as handles, handrails, etc., that come in frequent contact with both our crew members and our team. Official embarkation time is 17:00 as per contract conditions. Please note that in order to achieve effective cleaning and disinfection levels, the embarkation time could be delayed within reasonable limits. As part of keeping the spaces clean, shoes are not allowed indoors the boat, the crew is required to collect all bedding (sheets, pillowcases, towels) at one point before disembarking and to remove trash from the WC and the kitchen in the nearest trash can.
