About

Currently I'm finishing my master's in sport science and I majored in sailing. Since both of my parents finished a sport science college, all kinds of sports and outdoor activities were a crucial part in my childhood, but now, even more so. I'm not in this business long, but I reached out to the best possible people and I think I learned a lot so far. I'm always open to advice and feedback to improve any segment I can. I've been sailing for the last three years, a lot, this year I got my licence, went on an advanced skippers course, and worked the whole summer in Croatia and Greece on sailboats and catamarans up to 50ft. This summer was full of challenges since it was my first year as skipper, but I learned I can improvise and adapt easily and that I can keep calm under pressure. My free time is based on travelling and usually is connected to sports in some way.
